

Announcement

Two Scientific Awards in Clinical Neurophysiology The M.A.B. Brazier Young Investigator Award and The W.A. Cobb Young Investigator Award

Under the auspices of the International Federation of Clinical Neurophysiology, Elsevier Science Publishers have established two scientific awards for young clinical neurophysiologists in honor of M.A.B. Brazier and W.A. Cobb.

The awards are a tribute to Dr. Brazier's and Dr. Cobb's contributions to clinical neurophysiology.

Award

– Designation as recipient of the M.A.B. Brazier or W.A. Cobb International Award in Clinical Neurophysiology for Young Investigators.

– An award of US $3500 to be presented at the International Congress of Clinical Neurophysiology, San Francisco, CA, USA, 14–20 September, 2003.

Eligibility

The applicant should be:

– A young investigator (age limit 40 on 1 May, 2003).

Application procedure

– A current curriculum vitae and notarised statement of birthdate.

– An original manuscript of a clinical neurophysiology study in which the applicant is the primary investigator and the first author.

– A letter from the candidate stating his/her interest in the competition.

– The manuscript should conform to the style and format of the journal Clinical Neurophysiology (as published after October 2002).

– Submitted manuscripts will be reviewed by the Editorial Board and the two manuscripts selected for awards will be published in Clinical Neurophysiology.

– All other manuscripts that have been judged meritorious, but that were not selected for the two awards, will also be published in Clinical Neurophysiology.

Applicants from the North and South Americas, Australasia and Japan are eligible only for the M.A.B. Brazier Award and should submit all application material to:

The M.A.B. Brazier International Award
c/o Prof. M. Hallett
National Institutes of Health
Bldg 10, Room 5N226
10 Center Drive, MSC 1428
Bethesda, MD 20892-1428
USA

Applicants from Europe, Asia (except Japan) and Africa are eligible only for the W.A. Cobb Award and should submit all application material to:

The W.A. Cobb International Award
c/o Prof. P.M. Rossini
Ospedale Fatebenefratelli
Divisione di Neurologia
Isola Tiberina 39
00186 Rome
Italy

Manuscripts co-authored by a member of the IFCN Executive Committee will not be eligible for either of the two awards. All manuscripts submitted will be the property of Clinical Neurophysiology.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 1 May, 2003.

Manuscripts submitted from 1 May 2002 are acceptable.